HUNGARIAN REGIME OVERTHROWN; FOREIGN MINISTER SLAIN

Council To Act On Improvements

STORM SWEEPS CITY

SANITARY PROGRAM UP TONIGHT

WATER AND SEWER PLANS WILL BE APPROVED BY ALDERMEN.

LAST VALENTINE REGIME SESSION

Much Business Will Come Up
For Action at Meeting
This Evening.

Ratification of an extensive program of water and sewer main extension, already approved by the Board of Public Works and to aggregate thousands of dollars, will be the biggest work of the council
tonight, probably the last session before Mayor-elect Thomas E. Welsh assumes the seat of Mayor Valentine
at the special meeting to be held a week from tomorrow night.

The session, from all indications
will be busy and long for a large number of matters will come before the body for consideration.

City Engineer C. V. Kerch, for the Board of Public Works, today filed with City Clerk Victor E. Hemming
the recommendations of the board for the extension of both water and sanitary sewer mains. Every section of the city is included in some portion of the work.

The board adopted its report which will go to the council tonight after weeks of careful study and further with the co-operation of the Housing corporation. It was foreseen months ago that much water and sewer work
must be done to care for the expansion of the city.

Providing the council approved the plans as recommended by the Board of Public Works immediate steps to start
the work will be taken.

A number of other important matters will come before the council
among the leaders are the annex of Tuesday, approval of the contract to the Yauco Iron Works for the erection of the new bridge over the river
at Jackson street and the now almost final garbage question.

Just what will be done on the refuge disposal proposition is unknown.
But one bid has been filed with City Clerk Hemming and when opened
members of Alderman J. J. Bullin's committee considered it warranting
little attention.

Below is the recommendation of the Board of Public Works for sanitary sewer main extensions:

Sewer District No. 3
Center Ave. from Western Ave. to point 375 ft. of center line of Riverside street, 175 ft. W. on Linn St.

Sewer District No. 4

N. of Oak St. Pleasant to Wall St.

ary near Cornelia St.

Jazz 'em Up Chaloner Puts O.K. On 'Hops'

New York, April 7.—The shimmy
has the old fashioned waltz trimmed with jazz and not young girls. It is the conclusion reached by John Ar-strong Chaloner, in "Who's Loony Now," after his first tour of Broadway, for jazz, but too swift for southern dancers, who are "too lazy
to hop," said Chaloner.

PRESIDENT, IMPROVED, KEPT ABED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, April 7.—The peace conference committee on reparations and damages today adopted a provisional report upon the various forms of damages and the methods of valuation.
The report was presented by the first
sub-committee of the commission.

Paris, April 7.—President Wilson's condition was improved this morning, but he remains in bed. The report of the physician, Dr. Raymond Grayson, his physician, the president will remain in his room today attending no meetings.

Apparently the president's condition
is in the last stages of the wearing off process. He hopes to be able to resume work on Tuesday.

Improving Washington Hears.
Washington, April 7.—President
Wilson is "steadily improving," although still confined to his bed, according to a message received today
at the White House from Paris.

Big 4 Fail to Meet.
Paris, April 7.—Because of the indisposition of Premier Lloyd George
and the continued illness of President Wilson, the Council of Four did not hold a session during the forenoon.

It was hoped to hold a meeting in the afternoon.

Heavy Property Damage in Wake of Nebraska Tornado

Omaha, Neb., April 7.—Heavy property damage resulted from a tornado
that swept across the western residential section of Omaha last night.
Damage and Clifton Hill suffered the greatest losses, many homes being undermined and in some cases practically ruined.

Practically the entire city has been aroused and is demanding strictest action as the result of the rowdyism
and deplorable actions of intoxicated soldiers on streets and throughout the business district Saturday night.

Janesville, over the week-end, was the haven for hundreds of men in uniform. The effects of liquor on them
was much in evidence.

Street fights and brawls featured
the late evening and early morning
of Saturday and Sunday. Yesterday was quiet, yet a large number of party
intoxicated soldiers gave more or less trouble.

The police were powerless. Civilians looked to the aid of the soldiers in many instances.

During Friday and Saturday it was rumored that eight secret service men, some in uniform and some in military garb, were in the city. If they were, neither Chief of Police
William E. Gower nor Sheriff Fred
Seider were approached for assistance.

Intoxicated soldiers, men, discharged during the last week of Camp Grant reported an influx of placed units and incidents of the ves-
tern front the imposters gave varied answers and were quickly held to responsibility. One of the alleged over-seas fighter flouted four wound chevrons
and three more on his right sleeve for eighteen months' service overseas.

Another with a bad cough, claimed to have been gassed at Mont Saeb, but could give no data nor incidents of the fight.

The old feud between enlisted men of the quartermaster corps and the line, infantry and artillery, was responsible for several quarrels which led to blows. As usual the doughboy was more than holding his own when arriving civilians pulled the battlers
apart.

Where the soldiers are securing their liquor is the big question. Another hard problem for the police is

ELECTRICAL PLANT HIT BY BOLT

TELEPHONE SERVICE PAR-ALYZED AND SEWAGE
SYSTEM DAMAGED.

LIGHTNING HITS TREE NEAR JAIL

Gale and Heavy Downpour of Rain Causes Loss and Alarm.

Janesville was the center of a severe electrical storm early today.
Bolts of lightning damaged one of the machines at the Fourth Avenue
plant of the Janesville Electric Co., stripped the bark from a tree near
the county jail, and put nearly 20
telephone lines out of commission.
The heavy downpour of rain which accompanied it caused minor damage
to the sewerage system at several points.

Gale for 15 Minutes.
The storm, which was the first severe electrical storm of the year, began at seven-thirty and continued for more than 15 minutes, when it suddenly abated.

Two bolts in one of the large dynamos at the electric company's plant
were burned out by a bolt of lightning, and the entire city circuit was broken for about three minutes. One of the reserve dynamos was put in action at once and the power resumed.

Dancing from branch to branch
on a tree in the jail yard, the lightning played one of its usual freaks.
Strips of bark were torn off at several different points. No other damage was done here.

Several local lines of the Wisconsin
telephone company were put out of order while no trouble was experienced on the toll lines. Practically no property was done to the Rock county telephone company's system. The Postal and Western Union telegraph
companies likewise escaped trouble.

The heavy rain caused several sewers
to overflow. Street Commissioner Thomas McKewen had a force of men at work shortly after the storm
placing the system in order.

Lightning Strikes Barn.
Milton, April 7.—Lightning struck
the barn on the Doctor Campbell
place, Fort Atkinson street this morning. Two horses and two pigs, the property of the tenant, Henry Rook, were killed. The barn was badly damaged but did not take fire. Telephones about town were put out of commission.

Army Men's Actions Over Week-end Rouse City's Ire; Street Brawls and Rowdiness Called Deplorable

ines will meet Friday night to take preliminary steps to perfect a local chapter of a great movement spread throughout the state among men who saw service in the war. Colonel John Turner, Madison, Col. John G.
Salsman, Madison, and Col. Marshall Cousins, Janesville, will be present to organize the organization.

ing from the service to be present. The presence of Major David Atwood, Q. M. C. W. S. G. custodian of the Army of Co. M., the hall has been secured for the occasion.

Committee Busy.
J. B. Kelly, Edwin Sartell, Owen Skjerven and Emmett Connors are handling the work preliminary to the meeting. They are circulating papers
among soldiers, sailors and marines,
returning from the service to be present.

The committee is earnestly urging every man who served in the war to be present. The meeting will be held at the Armory of Co. M., the hall has been secured for the occasion.

Public boards and officials of the United States and of Wisconsin appointed to help the soldier are in harmony with the aims of veterans of
the big strife and have promised every
cooperation.

Members of the Grand Army of the Republic have been made honorary members of the organization at Madison and the veterans of the Spanish
American war are also honorary members.
The temporary name chosen for the organization is "The American War Veterans."

PERMANENT TELEGRAPH SCHOOL OPENS MAY 1

Janesville is to be the home of a permanent telegraph school, which will doubtless be attended by pupils
from all parts of Wisconsin and Illinois. The school, which will be opening May 1 in the Borzuck building on Fourth street, will be in charge of
W. F. Heine, E. A. Mohrns, and several instructors.

Mr. Mohrns who has been doing commercial telegraph work for 22 years will act as general manager. Mr.
Heine will be the president of the school. He has been a telegraph operator for over 40 years. For many years he was manager of the Western Union office at Milton and for the past five years has been in charge at Monroe.

COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT IN BUDAPEST REPORTED WRECKED BY REBELS

Bela Kun, Envoy, is Assassinated by Insurrection-
ists—Reports Do Not State Whether Revolution
Was Organized by Socialists or the Bourgeoisie Parties.

BULLETIN
Washington, April 7.—Advices reaching the state department today indirectly from Vienna said a communist revolution seemed imminent in German Austria.

(By Associated Press.)
Vienna, April 7.—The Hungarian communist government in Budapest has been overthrown, according to rumors current in official circles, the newspapers say.

Bela Kun, the foreign minister, is reported to have been assas-nated. The reports do not say whether the revolution in Budapest was organized by the socialists, or the Bourgeoisie parties.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT IS REVISED BY PEACE CONFEREES

PARIS, April 7.—Orders which it is learned have been given for the United States transport George Washington, to proceed from America to a French port are not taken to mean that President Wilson is contemplating a premature departure from France.
They are thought rather to reflect a belief that the peace conference will be able to effect an adjustment of outstanding problems at a comparatively early date.

Paris, April 7.—The covenant of the league of nations has been revised after the incorporation of it clause
recognizing the Monroe Doctrine, and possible minor changes, for submission to the peace conference.

Premier Lloyd George is not yet fully committed to the addition of an article relating to the Monroe Doctrine, but some of his colleagues from Great Britain are practically pledged to it.

A clause on the Monroe Doctrine
prepared by Col. E. M. House, Minister A. J. Balfour and Lord Cecil,
will probably be adopted.

The new covenant shows many changes are not regarded as at variance with the original purpose and aim.

State Convention
As soon as a sufficient number of organizations have been made a state convention will be called for the purpose of perfecting a permanent state organization, electing of permanent officers and the adoption of a proper ritual.

Men who saw service and approached by members of the committee today agreed that the need of an organization as planned is universally admitted as most desirable and worthy.

Public boards and officials of the United States and of Wisconsin ap-
pointed to help the soldier are in harmony with the aims of veterans of
the big strife and have promised every
cooperation.

Folks We All Know

Allentown, Pa., April 7.—Max
Fisher, forty-nine, has not been out of jail for more than a year at a time for the last thirty-five years and boasts of it.

Known here as the "King" of Tramps, Fisher has been a hobo
since early boyhood and has been involved in scores of robberies, according to his own statements.

Fisher got in again recently when he was accused of connection with six burglary cases. Twenty years ago he shot the Weaversville postmaster.
Only a few years after he had served
time for that offense he was given five years for burglary.

"The King of Tramps" was always proud of his close resemblance to personal appearance to the former Kaiser, and he is said to have lorded
it over his companions of the road as truly as Bill ever ruled in the Pat-erland.

MUCH WORK FACING STATE LEGISLATORS, BACK ON JOB TUESDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, April 7.—With the return of members of the legislature for work on Tuesday scores of important propositions will be before them for consideration and long calendars of bills will face them at every session.

Consideration of the reappointment of Carl D. Jackson as a member of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission will come before the senate on Wednesday. The vote is expected to be close although the friends of Jackson believe he will be confirmed.

On Tuesday the senate will probably give final consideration to the Olson "why butter" bill. This measure was previously killed by the senate ten days ago, but a substitute amendment was offered changing the name of "why butter" to "why cream butter" in this latter form the bill will be given consideration on Tuesday.

Final action is expected from the senate on Tuesday of the Nolan bill to submit to a vote of the people at the November election in 1920 the right of giving suffrage to women. The present legislature has passed the Coe bill expanding the rights to women in presidential elections. The Nolan bill provides that upon the approval of the people full suffrage shall be granted to women in all matters. The Nolan bill has already passed the upper house with only two dissenting votes. The bill is expected to pass the lower house on Tuesday and the measure will then go to the governor for approval. Close friends of Governor Philipp say he will sign the bill. The Finley bill prohibiting the desecration of the American flag comes up for senate consideration on Tuesday.

The senate on Wednesday will probably dispose of the Wilcox bill providing that the expense of all grade-crossing separations shall be borne by the railroad company. At the present time a part of the expense must be borne by the city or locality. On the same day will give consideration to the finance committee bill appropriating $22,000 for the continuation of the free employment offices of the state until July 1, 1919. These offices have been operated by the federal government, but the federal funds lapse on April 1. In order that this work can be continued until the federal government can again resume it, the state is making a $22,000 appropriation.

Concurrent bills are pending in the lower house for consideration Tuesday and Wednesday. Many of the assembly bills, however, are of minor local importance. The bill increasing the tuition of pupils attending high school from $26 to $72 a year, where the tuition is paid by the towns, will be acted upon by the house Tuesday. It is expected that the bill will be carried in. The Nancy resolution to amend to constitution so as to permit a city to increase its municipal debt from 5 per cent to 10 per cent of its property value has been passed by the house Tuesday.

This measure effects practically every city in Wisconsin and a large number of petitions have been received here in favor of the resolution. The committee of affairs of the house has favorably recommended the Kansas bill providing a license of $5 to $10 on the farmer's dog. The house expects to give final action to this bill on Wednesday. When the defect of the bill is practically assured.

ROCK COUNTY STRONG FOR M. B. ROSENBERY

Belated returns of the April election of last Tuesday, tabulated by County Clerk Elwood W. Lunde, show that Justice M. B. Rosenberg had a greater victory over Dittmar this year than two years ago when Crownhart was his opponent, winning the supreme court seat by 2,173 votes against 1,068 when Dittmar was running.

Six Week-end Drunks Face Maxfield Today

Six week-end intoxicants faced Judge Maxfield in municipal court this morning. Stoughton was so well represented that Judge Maxfield remarked, "What are you Stoughton fellows all doing down here in a bunch?" Frank Delaney, Minneapolis, a farm hand, was fined ten and costs or fifteen days. Al Lunde, Stoughton, seven and costs or ten days; Julius Hyem, Stoughton, ten and costs or fifteen days; George Ludwig, Rockford, an ex-soldier, three and costs or seven days; Ted Thornson, Stoughton, five and costs or seven days; and Charles Holtz, Beloit, ten and costs or seven days.

LEE EXPLAINS LAW FOR CROW BOUNTIES

County Clerk Howard W. Lee today explained away the red tape contingent to collecting bounties on crows. The 1917 legislature made revision of the law and much confusion has been met up to date.

Formerly the county clerk paid bounties, but now it is the treasurer of the township or village in which the birds were killed.

The crow hunter must take his receipts to the town chairman or the president of his village, who issues a certificate on the town clerk, and the town clerk then issues an order on the town treasurer.

The town chairman is charged with seeing that the heads are destroyed.

PROF. WAY DISCUSSES SITUATION IN RUSSIA

The last lecture of the series recently given by Prof. R. E. Way, Beloit, was delivered last Saturday afternoon before the Woman's history class in regular session. The current event which he discussed was that of the situation in Russia, with special reference to the report recently given by Raymond Robbins that the Bolshevik failed because the proletariat of today becomes the property owner of tomorrow.

He also gave an explanation of the aims of the League of Nations and said that everything else had failed, to preserve peace, and no one else had any other remedy to offer. He thought that the world was in a dangerous position, the people over the thing had better take into account that Wilson had with him about 30 trained experts along international matters and used along these lines.

The topic of his lecture was "Colonization" and he gave a rapid summary of facts connected with the subject. He showed that colonization had been first for commercial purposes, and then for investment of surplus capital for any country, and that the moral issue had been a later idea which had been slow in forming. He showed the difference between Clemenceau, the materialist, and Wilson, the idealist, and how one force was ever striving with the other in every plan of colonization.

The thought the whole scheme of colonization would depend on the outcome of the League of Nations, and that it would be up to the United States to do much of the guardianship required by these new words of the league. Great Britain he assumed had found an admirable system for governing its colonies. France had not much of a colonial nation, and the policy of Germany had been worst of all, he said. The conditions of the German colonies in Africa had been notorious for cruelty and brutality in management, and forced labor had been all too common. That this had not been the fault of individual rulers, but the deliberate policy of the nation was shown by extracts from some of their experts on the subject of colonization.

In closing Professor Way emphasized the thought that this present war had cost too much to leave the job half completed and that it was necessary to make the world safe for democracy or the war was not won. At the business meeting following the lecture, Mr. J. C. Sutherland gave a report of the series of lectures available for another season, and after discussion it was decided to accept the offer of a series again from Professor Way, the subject to be decided later, after consultation with him.

FEW SOLDIERS ARE SEEKING EMPLOYMENT

Disabled soldiers applying for work here have been remarkably few the past two months. Fred Schmitt, manager of the labor bureau of the Chamber of Commerce states. The number of men in uniform who apply for jobs is steadily decreasing and is now far exceeded by civilian applicants.

A soldier who had his left arm blown off by a shell was given work today reading gas meters. Another whose right arm is paralyzed and one whose hip was crushed by a motor truck, may be given work sometime this week.

"We can get jobs for practically every soldier who is disabled," Mr. Schmitt said. "A man with one or both legs off can operate an automobile machine in any local factory while a man with one arm, missing can do some kind of work in factories or can read meters. We are having little difficulty in placing those who apply."

The Gazette offers its column free to returning soldiers and sailors who wish to advertise for employment. All these ads are run without any charge. A number of men have taken advantage of this offer.

Ukrainians Are Willing to Quit Fighting Poles

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) London, April 7.—The Ukrainians are willing to cease fighting the Poles if a plebiscite to decide the ownership of territory in dispute is arranged under the control of the League of Nations. M. Holubovitch, premier of west Ukraine, M. Holubovitch, who was interviewed at Stanislaw, claimed for Ukraine all the territory between the river San and the Russian frontier and said that the Ukrainians would fight for it to the last. He declared, however, that because of his anxiety for peace he would consent to a vote of the people if the Poles would withdraw across the Russian border and abide by the result of the plebiscite.

BIRD CORNER

Two new members who have been enrolled in the Bird club are Evelyn Hummel, 412 North Chatham street, and Robert Pierson, 402 North High street.

The bird books given as prizes to the 15 children submitting the best bird stories in the contest have been mailed to those contestants living out of town. The majority of those children living in town have called for their books. Three are still not called for. They may be had at the editorial room anytime during the day.

The following letters are two of the 15 submitted in the contest. By Pearl Dockhorn, age 10, 651 Logan street.

The Red Winged Blackbird
As I was taking a walk down at Spring Brook I saw a Red winged Blackbird. It was up in a willow tree, singing a very pretty song. I heard it talking to some other red winged blackbirds. I looked at them and they were all singing. After a while I saw the birds it was talking with. And then I saw them all fly to a wire across the street. They stayed there for awhile and sang. They were a nice black with some red on their wings. The bird is about nine and one half inches long. It had a yellow bill and shining black eyes. A very pretty bird and they seem to love to sing and talk. I like to watch them.

By Emmett Boes, 556 North Chatham street.

A Robin
The birds have arrived. This morning, March 12, as I was out doors in front of my house on Chatham street, I saw a robin.

The cherry song greeted me as I walked out in front. I could hear him singing and started to look for it. As I was hunting around in the trees I saw a flock of sparrows chasing it around. It flew squarely over our heads, for there was another boy with me.

We were sure it was a robin because it had a bright red breast and a black and gray back. He sang a song of cheerup, cheerup, spring has come.

He has come here from the south. He does not like to stay here in the winter, nor stay north for summer so for the summer he comes north to stay.

Big Games to Antwerp.

Lausanne, Switzerland, April 7.—Announcement that the international Olympic committee had chosen Antwerp for the Olympic games in 1920 by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, president of the committee, at a meeting here to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the re-establishment of the Olympic games, was applauded warmly. Neither the United States, Great Britain nor the central powers were represented at the meeting. The French would refuse to participate in the next Olympiad if the Germans take part. Sporting circles here doubt that the British and Americans will enter games with the Germans and Austrians next year.

GAYLY COLORED STENCILED "HANKIES" ARE NEW AND PRETTY FAD FOR SPRING

By ELOISE.

Milady is as capricious about her fashion fads as she is with her loves in the spring time. Just at the present she is halting for a moment in her mad infatuation for heads and other bright colored jewelry to smile favorably on stenciled handkerchiefs. The colored handkerchief will be used this season to lend a touch of color to the spring frock or suit. Very smart indeed will the little colored corner of a dainty kerchief look peering out from the breast pocket of milady's tailored suit or "weeieit."

Some are white and some are colored, but all have colored designs or borders. Here are eight of the very newest and some of them are almost loud, but all are attractive. For instance, who could resist the blood red rose stenciled on a tiny white square with a red hem? Or for wear with the victory colored suit one surely wants a "hanky" with three victory cocks in black and French green on a white ground. More conventional is the kerchief with the wide bright green border stenciled in white clovers and the plain one with a tan black border.

Next black and white squares on a field of old blue is a decided novelty, while quaint flowers of lavender and green on a deep purple border is another futuristic. The only thing which may dull the enthusiasm for these dainty bits of linen is the fact that now and again one may get one that will not wash. But the fadist says, "Fush, use salt water."

"Ho has been his own best customer for eight years," said Mrs. Dickson.

Industry.
"Persons industriously occupying themselves thrive better on a little of their own honest getting than lazy heirs on the large revenues left unto them."—T. Fuller.

"Booze Dealer" His Own

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) San Francisco, April 7.—After waiting eight years for her husband to go on the "water wagon" Mrs. Eric H. Dickson decided to obtain a divorce. She was granted a decree by Judge Graham from Arthur B. Dickson, a liquor dealer.

IDEAL heat renews old homes

Remodeling of buildings should begin in the basement. Next time you see alterations being made, note what material is saved—or thrown out! You will find the tin and sheet iron heating devices go to the dump heap—but you never see IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators thrown out that way. They make a building always new—and never wear out or lose efficiency. When IDEAL heated buildings are remodeled, extra sections and more radiators are added to furnish the additional heat needed—the building stays in the same desirable class for rental or sale. IDEAL Heating Outfits are, therefore, a long-lasting investment—not an expense!

AMERICAN & IDEAL
RADIATORS & BOILERS
These outfits guarantee
you a lifetime of heating
comfort and fuel economy!

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators enable you to get not only the greatest possible volume of heat and therefore the utmost value from your coal, but these outfits guarantee perfect distribution and control of that heat! No "cold side" to the house. No drafty floors!

The greatest money saver in a building is IDEAL heating

If you have a building to rent or to sell, you'll find it a splendid talking basis to say: "It's heated with IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators." It means that the tenant will be glad to pay 15% more rent because of the comfort, health protection, convenience, cleanliness, and fuel economy he will experience, or in selling you get back the full price paid for the outfit, which does not rust out or wear out.

Don't go through another Winter without remodeling your home, store, flats, shop, school, or church to the extent of enjoying the comfort and fuel saving of IDEAL-AMERICAN heating! Put quickly in old or new buildings. Ask for free book "Ideal Heating." Let us serve you now.

Built-in, genuine Vacuum Cleaner—iron suction pipe runs to each floor. We also make the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner connected by iron suction pipe to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, etc. Through a light-weight hose ALL the dirt, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable cleaner—instead, you have a practical outfit that is part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog—it does not obligate you to buy.

THE WORLD LEAGUE.

It is a significant fact which should not be overlooked by anyone considering the league of nations question that eminent Americans, practically without exception, who have studied conditions at first hand in Europe
since the signing of the armistice
have returned to this country warm
in their advocacy of a world league.

Probably few if any of these Americans believe that the original draft of the league constitution was the best that could be devised, but a study of their published views reveals their firm conviction that the amendments written into the covenant are adequate to protect America's interests, and that the new constitution,
conforming in its main outlines to the ideas of such men as Senator Lodge, Mr. Root and Mr. Taft, could be adopted.

George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States,
and a republican of much influence
in his party's councils, went to Europe several months ago frankly antagonistic to the world league idea.
He returned recently and announced that he had been won over to the other side. Said Mr. Wickersham:
"Before I went, I was decidedly opposed to our country's becoming involved
in any 'entangling alliance' with the nations of Europe. This attitude, I felt, was true Americanism. I looked upon the idea of a 'league of nations' with skepticism. Closer acquaintance with conditions resulting from the war
realized during two months' sojourn in England and France, has greatly modified my opinion. I feel sure that none of the leading opponents of the league of nations in America today
could go through the same experience
without undergoing a like conversion."

The opinions of Mr. Wickersham, who is a great lawyer and a clear thinker, as well as a man who does not change his mind, should have some weight. He should be heard when he says, "The proposed league cannot be thought out completely in America; that one must see conditions as they actually exist
abroad to realize the danger that civilization is now in; and that America is already enmeshed in a world situation from which she cannot withdraw." He sums up the whole situation in the following words:

"The United States, by entering the war and dictating the terms of peace,
has assumed a responsibility for securing the fruits of victory and for an honest effort to insure a permanent peace and the protection of the world against bolshevism—anarchy.
This can only be accomplished by a close union or league of nations that together conducted the war and overthrow the power of German military dictatorship. The proposed peace covenant is the only tangible scheme before the world. It can readily be amended to remove the substantial objections. I am in favor of urging these amendments and of directing the expression of public opinion to the end of compelling the ratification of the treaty when it shall be submitted to the United States senate."

WHY IGNORE NURSES?

Why does the United States not give recognition to the women who
as Red Cross nurses men great sacrifices, suffered hardships and acquired themselves as heroines in the great war?

Every day troop ships have been arriving at eastern harbors with thousands of soldiers and columns of newspaper stories have been written about the boys who fought so nobly.
But on the same ships have come back
women who worked side by side with those boys and who through their heroism saved many lives. Their names are seldom mentioned.

A few days ago a group of nurses came down the gang-plank of a big steamer struggling under loads of luggage. They passed between long lines of soldiers who were in company formations. These soldier-boys would gladly have aided the nurses if they had not been under military formation.

Why not have those in charge of the transportation of troops arrange to have doughboys assigned to these nurses to see that they are not compelled to lug their baggage off the ship like some immigrant?

Not an American soldier would sunt idly by, and see those brave
women subjected to such hardship,
not to say indignity if they had their way.

It is time the officials awakened to the slight that has been and is being offered to the nurses. It would appear that because they have served the government they are looked upon
not better than but below the status of the ordinary woman.

JAPAN'S POWER.

Japan as a powerful nation seems to be over-rated in some quarters,
especially when she is compared with the United States, Great Britain and France.

She whipped China and Russia, but her success was not due so much to her strength as to the conditions under which her opponents had to fight. Most any nation could have given China a terrific beating. Even the smallest American state might undertake the task with some chance of success. As for Russia, we know how hopeless a task it is to carry on modern warfare, several thousand

miles from the main base of supplies,
with only a single railroad track as means of communication. It was not so much that the Japs defeated Russia as it was conditions were so unfavorable to Japan, plus Russian incompetence.

Had Japan not gone to war with the two straw men—China and Russia—
she would not today rank as high among the nations of the earth as Brazil. She is several times smaller than Brazil. She is not greater than Brazil in effective population. Her progress in science, art, literature and education has not been greater than Brazil's. Yet because she defeated Russia and China some years ago in war and is determined to play a leading role in world affairs now, Japan
is ranked as one of the world's five great powers, while Brazil is assigned to a very inferior place.

The spectacle then of Japan trying to dictate to the great powers of the earth, including the United States,
what her policy in regard to Asiatic immigration shall be, to say the least,
is highly interesting. If Japan were as great and as powerful as she thinks
she is, she might compel recognition of her demands. It seems unlikely that larger countries will allow themselves to be bluffed by smaller ones.

The General Motors corporation has announced that it will erect and operate of its plant this year. The men who will be employed will spend a substantial sum each week. Janesville can afford to put on her best dress and entertain such prosperous visitors. Better get ready for cleanup time.

Representatives of 29 racial divisions, comprising 42 nationalities,
got together in New York to demonstrate that they were for America first, last and all the time. Such a demonstration should be staged in every community in order that encouragement can be given to nation-wide Americanization.

Tariff and currency will be two issues which will confront the new congress when it is called in special session. If some plan can be worked out to revise the tariff upward so that the present income and other internal taxes can be reduced, the new lawmakers will be mighty popular with the public.

Two more weeks and we will be at the threshold of the Victory loan campaign. Rock county and Janesville are preparing to put the drive
over with the speed and thoroughness
which has characterized all former war activities. We can hang up an other record.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A CURE FOR VANITY.

If I were inclined to be vain,
To think myself perfect and fine—
If I were inclined to maintain
That all of the virtues are mine,
My partner of sorrows and joys
Would speedily puncture the sham;
When I stay out too late with the boys,
She can tell me how little I am.

When I'm tempted to show a few airs
I think of the things that she's said
To me from the top of the stairs
When I thought I could sneak into bed,
When I promise to get home at ten,
And do not arrive until three,
In language that's crisp, I get, then,
The positive truth about me.

When I've muttered "I couldn't get home,"
Or whispered the last car I missed,
No swelling remains in my dome,
No doubts of my standing exist.
I lose the high notions I hold
And come down to earth with a slam.

And I learn, for in sorrow I'm told,
Just the kind of a fellow I am.

MAKE IT A GOOD ONE.

Now they are trying to put the ban on tobacco in every form.
The vicious cigaret must go.
The pipe is a baneful peril.
The man who uses eating tobacco
Should go behind the bars,
And the cigar smokers—
As for them—spurious venenkt.

All of which, of course,
Is as it should be.
Men are not entitled to
the aid but certain consolation
Or tobacco.
Which has inspired good deeds,
Great works of art
And masterpieces of literature.
And why stomp with tobacco?
Close up the theaters,
Stop all the movies,
Put the ban on apple pie,
Drive out French pastries,
Abolish all hammocks,
Burn up literature,
Forbidden circus lemonade
And circus as well;
Ban all automobile riding,
Blow up the soda fountains,
Destroy all playing cards,
Make it a crime to dance,
Flow up the golf links,
Destroy the tennis courts,
Kill everything that's pleasant
And make life worth living.

If we're going to have a good world,
Let's make it a really good one—
One that will be Worth while.

EDGERTON WOMEN
PETITION FOR NURSE

The following petition from the Federated Women's clubs, Edgerton,
has been sent to the Rock county board of supervisors in regard to the employment of a regular visiting nurse.

"In view of the experience of cities and country communities throughout the United States with the employment of visiting nurses, experience
which invariably indicates dire need of the work which such individuals have in charge.

"Whereas a survey of Rock county made during the month of May last disclosed the fact that 42 per cent of the children of our rural communities were under normal with regard to weight.

"Whereas the children of Rock county have a right to that supervision and care which will, as a preventative and educational matter,
mean children of greater happiness,
children of sounder minds in sounder
bodies.

"And whereas thinking people are appreciating that the real problem
of conservation is the conservation of childhood and that the problem is best reached through the employment of such experts as know the problem, solving it upon the basis of specialized training in a spirit of service to the nation.

"Be it resolved that the Federated Women's clubs of Edgerton petition
the county board to employ a visiting nurse who shall extend her work over all parts of the county where such service has not already been provided by communities locally."

Enough players showed up at the driving park for base ball practice yesterday afternoon, so that two teams were chosen. They battled for five innings, the score being 7 to 5. From all appearances there will be a wealth of material to choose from after a few more practice games. The greatest weakness apparent was at bat, which is to be expected at the start of the season.

NOTE FROM MR. ## News Notes from Movieland

By DAISY DEAN

It is bad enough to be a convict and have to wear stripes, whether they're in fashion or not, and live in a lark cell without having a hideous companion like this one who looks as if he is about to shampoo John Barrymore. It serves John right for being so stuck to comedy. But then even a convict has his feelings as John says. The scene is taken from "The Test of More's Fidelity," a picture from D. Phillips Oppenheim's well-known novel, "The Malefactor." Barrymore is supposed to be visited by a hideous apparition, and he certainly is. He helped to make up the actor who played the part, "because," he explained, "I know the sort of thing that would frighten me."

EMMY'S ANKLES IN CAST

No she has not broken them or sprained them or anything like that, they are only playing understudy to her. It happens like this. The value of one particular incident in the comedy which is Miss Wehlen's first picture to be made on the coast depends upon a director could find plenty of young actresses in Hollywood who so far as facial pulchritude was concerned could play the "bit" of a poor little working girl—but when he sought one also blessed with a pair of ankles that would dazzle the eyes in a "close-up," ah! that was something else again.

He solved his dilemma by engaging a young woman to play the part in the "long shots," while Miss Wehlen, donning a skirt, lingerie, hose and shoes exactly like the other's "understudied" in the "ankle shots."

VATICAN SEES FIRST MOVIE According to announcement from Goldwyn offices, word has reached America that the fame of Goldwyn has penetrated the precincts of the Vatican in Rome, and that Pope Benedict has expressed a desire to see a presentation of Mary Garden's portrayal of "Thais." This production is the first, so far as is known, ever to be shown in the Vatican. It is a tribute to Mary Garden to present the first screen play in the Vatican. The presentation of "Thais" will take place in the Sala Pia some time this month, and the Pope will view the feature with his attending cardinals and other members of the ecclesiastical hierarchy. "Thais" is the first screen play in which Mary Garden ever appeared.

One of the Pope's reasons for wishing to see "Thais" is to find out what poignant moral lessons may be drawn from cinema plays. No play is better adapted to this purpose than "Thais," the woman whose fame spread throughout the ancient world as beauty and as the beloved of princes, and who is reclaimed to Christianity through the self-sacrificing appeals of a young monk. He succeeds and Thais notorious for following the path of evil, is remembered as the woman who completely reformed and truly repented.

Miss Lucy Ellen Magee, Beloit, is the guest of Elizabeth Biglow.

NAZIMOVA

RADIANT STAR of a THOUSAND MOODS

In a Play That Is Surrounded by the Mystery of the Sea—The Charm of Romance—And the Mighty Power of Amazing Art

"OUT OF THE FOG"

A Picture Presentation of Nazimova's Sensation Stage Success, "CEPTION SHOALS"

An Entrancing Story of Mist and Sunshine—That Will Carry You From the Heart of the Caribbean to the Rock Bound Coast of Maine.

Read what Peter Milne, eminent critic, who reviews all pictures, says in Motion Picture News "Out of the Fog is a splendid combination of drama and star, so intensely dramatic, so skillfully acted, that it easily ranks as a triumph of art."

THE STORY

Well—to tell you the story would be a gross injustice to the art of the picture itself. It tells a tale so directly, so forcefully and with such consummate art, that it fairly defies repetition in cold type.

We thought in the past that Nazimova had reached the height of emotional acting—but in our opinion, "Out of the Fog" excels anything she has ever done.

You saw Nazimova as the Fascinating French Girl in "Revelation"—You Saw Her as Romany's Light-hearted Daughter in "Toys of Fate"—You Saw Her as the Wild Child of the Desert in "Eye for Eye" IN "OUT OF THE FOG" YOU WILL SEE A NEW—A STRANGE—A WHIMSICAL AND AMAZINGLY DIFFERENT NAZIMOVA.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My hair is falling out terribly. Every time I comb it I get a comb full and it looks as though it is coming out by the roots. Will you please tell me how to do? A CONSTANT READER.

A small quantity of vaseline massaged into the scalp nightly is as good as anything to restore falling hair.

The following formula is also considered good: Cologne, eight ounces; tincture of cantharides, one ounce; oil of English lavender, one-half dram; oil of rosemary, one-half dram. Apply to the roots of the hair once or twice a day.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for two months and he has proved himself a true friend and a perfect gentleman, but I do not care for his company longer. Please tell me how to quit him and still remain good friends. You know it is hard for a boy to take a "no."

There is a young man in our town that is very good looking and a fine young man. He is liked by all who know him. I am not very fond of him. He is keeping company with another girl and seems to be madly in love with her. She is jealous and does not like to have him give any of his time to me. He seems to be a true friend of mine and he has told me he thinks considerably more of me than the other girl, but he still continues to go with her. Do you think he really does think more of me?

When the young man asks to call or to take you somewhere, make your answer "no." If he understands how you feel toward him and stops asking. Probably he will not care to remain "good friends" unless you are willing to accept his company.

If the other young man goes with the other girl more than he does with you and takes her to better places of amusement, you may be sure he cares more for her than he does you. Do not believe anything he says. He does not seem sincere, and probably tells her the same things he does you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl and am working. Do you think it would be all right for me to keep company with a young man? He is a very nice fellow, but my father and mother object to my going with him. Why is it I cannot get out and have a good time? Girls do not seem to care for me unless they are alone. I try to do everything I can to have a good time like other girls, but I cannot. I go to church and Sunday school, but do not meet anyone who cares for me. What shall I do? BROWN EYES.

You are old enough to have young friends. Remember that popular people are usually very active. In people of following things, with their minds they get into them physically as well. Do not wait for people to seek you. Go to them and talk to them. Get a circle of friends of your own. Try to be a leader.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a nice young man for about two years and although we are most engaged we love each other very much. We go to parties, dances, and shows together and when he escorts me home at night he always wants good-night kiss. At first I refused him, but the last few nights I have given him the kiss.

Is this the proper thing to do since we are not engaged?

Will you tell me if I am wrong? ALICE.

A girl is not supposed to permit a young man to kiss her unless she is engaged to him. This is a girl makes exceptions too often she soon becomes promiscuous in her kissing.

FISH FOR LENT.

Halibut—The halibut is a large, flat fish of the flounder family, only somewhat longer. It is brown on top and white underneath. They often grow to a great size. They are in season the year around. Cut into steaks, they must be broiled, or large, thick pieces are very desirable for boiling. It is especially good as directed for cooking cod, and cook in boiling water to which vinegar has been added, allowing 15 minutes to the pound. Serve with a white sauce to which has been added two hard cooked eggs cut in half-inch pieces. Garnish with parsley. Note: Chicken halibut has a better flavor than the other. It is the young fish which have not attained a weight of more than ten pounds.

Mackerel—The average market size for mackerel is 12 inches. Its weight they vary from three-fourths to one pound. They may be obtained from April to September. They are also salted, smoked, canned and pickled. Mackerel is hard to digest because of the large portion of oil in it, may be overcome by simmering, after boiling about three times as long as for other fish, except salmon. Spanish mackerel has a finer flavor and is more expensive.

CHEESE DISHES.
Baked Rice and Cheese—To make Baked Rice and Cheese, take one cup of rice, one cup of milk, one cup of grated cheese, season with salt and paprika. Repeat layers until dish is three-quarters full. Moisten with rice water. Let it cook in a hot oven until they begin to turn white around the edges. Cover with the mixture of crumbs, cheese and seasoning. Brown in a very hot oven.

Baked Eggs With Cheese—Pour eggs, cut grated cheese, one cup of fine, soft bread crumbs, one-quarter teaspoon salt, few grains paprika. Break the eggs into an oiled baking dish or individual portions. Bake in a hot oven until they begin to turn white around the edges. Cover with the mixture of crumbs, cheese and seasoning. Brown in a very hot oven.

A statement made by Mrs. Charles Robson, chairman of the women's advisory board of the Rehabilitation committee of the Canadian government, was to the effect that Canadian soldiers have been marrying English girls at the rate of 1,200 a month.

"He's cross-eyed, wattle-jawed, and flat-footed as well, but it's worth it," she deliberately walked in the store and asked for a couple of two-thirds and a quarter.

"I'm going to marry him, or I'm not," said the President of the Federation of the Proposition of Women Taking the Initiative—Especially in Marriage," she said to herself.

"Sir, I know—before you slutter a word, that you are a great singer, and if you will change my name from Phatpriz (I'm afraid it is anyway) after forty-nine years to 'Gizfink' asked the man inquiringly.

"To Gizfink," she answered, "I will teach you to sing in opera. I will teach you to sing before kings and queens—and others."

"Done," said Mr. Gizfink, and he gave her the two Cuban Ranksniffs for nothing.

Several days later, Mr. Gizfink was seen behind the cigar counter once more.

I thought you was in grand opery," said an old customer.

"I was but I ain't answered Gizz, suddenly. 'Me voice was all O. K. and everything, but when I sung something funny, everybody laughed at me. I sung when I sung something sad that ought to bring on the weeps, why the doggone contrary idiots all hollered their lungs out laughing. Something was wrong but I didn't know what it was. They chuckled me out and Emma left me and—"

"And here you are," laughed the old customer. (The end.)

WHAT "SELF INDULGENCE" MEANS

"I suppose you're feeling fine now," I said to a friend who had just come back from a vacation trip.

She sighed. "Pretty good," she said, "but not as well as I hoped to feel. I guess I talked too much."

"I thought you planned to sit out on the veranda and get the fresh air that way, this trip," I said.

"I did," she admitted, "but you know I do love to walk so, and the walks there are just what I need. Now, if anyone should accuse that woman of self-indulgence, I am sure she would get very indignant. And yet she had other word would properly describe her conduct?"

Was It Worth While?
She had gone away to get rested, she had gone to a friend who had come back hardly rested at all, simply because she couldn't bear to give up the long tramps which she knows very well do not rest her.

I think the words self indulgence usually bring to mind an idea of the grosser and more serious sins, and because we fix our minds on that connotation we do not realize how wrong and harmful are the many little self indulgences which we permit ourselves.

Some Forms of Self Indulgence.
Self indulgence really means just what it says. Indulging yourself. Letting yourself go to walk when you really need to sit still and rest, just because you love to walk. Letting yourself sit up and finish a book when you know that you really need the sleep, just because you're crazy to see how it's coming out. Letting yourself sit down with a box of candy between meals and abuse your poor stomach by dribbling down that sweet stuff into it by the hour just because you love candy. Letting yourself say unkind things just because you feel cross (nervous you probably call it). Letting yourself tell things you have no right to tell simply because you want to shock or interest or excite someone.

In short, letting yourself do any of the things you know you ought not just because you have a temporary desire to do so.

Of course, there is such a thing as being too strict with yourself just as there are too strict parents as well as too indulgent ones.

The Danger of Throwing Over Rules.
Because "I feel like it!"

But the average person runs in no danger of that extreme. The greater danger is too much lenience with oneself too much throwing over of rules just because "I feel like it."

And aside from the immediate harm each self indulgence does—the lost rest, the indigestion, the hurt feelings—there is also the lasting

Every act of self discipline strengthens the fibre of which your character is made. Every act of self indulgence weakens it. Perhaps the little self indulgences do not greatly matter in themselves but some day when some big strain comes, the insidious weakness in your character may make itself felt in ways that do greatly matter.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

FATTENING UP WITH FAT

What kind of food may be expected to produce the most rapid accumulation of fat in the body?

There is a general belief that the carbohydrates—that is, the starchy vegetables and cereals and the natural sugars—are the most fattening foods. This belief is probably founded upon the well known methods of fattening fowls and animals for the market. But an expert in the subject of human nutrition thinks differently about it.

The most favorable substance is fat. This requires but little expenditure of force on the part of the digestive organs and a diet composed of fat with most no loss of energy. Practical medicine still hesitates to make effective use of fat as a fattening medium and generally gives preference to the carbohydrates. I have often pointed out that this should be abandoned, and that large, even enormous amounts of fat (neglecting here certain pathological conditions—diabetes or one of the beriberis) are excellent, and bring about results which can scarcely be equalled, not to say surpassed, by extra administration of carbohydrates.

If a man weighing 150 pounds lives on a diet which supplies 2500 calories a day, he may expect to increase his weight 20 pounds in the course of a year, by the addition of 200 calories to the daily ration. This represents a comparatively small amount of food, especially when the additional food is in the form of fats. For instance, two ordinary pats or pails of butter, or one-half glassful of cream, or three tablespoonfuls of olive oil, or two ordinary slices of cooked bacon would represent 200 calories.

The ideal time to digest food is when the body is at rest. A bedtime lunch is more easily digested than a mid-day lunch. The prodigal against mid-day lunch is based on excesses and not on regular habit. Only a fool indulges in gastronomic feasts at any time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Liver Regulator
For several months I have taken a regular evening dose of Liver Regulator. I find I can't stop it now, and I wonder if it is advisable to keep taking it.

ANSWER—Of course it does not regulate the liver or have any particular influence on the liver. The medicine called a liver regulator. The alleged medicinal ingredient in so-called liver medicines predisposes to piles and to disturbance of the nervous system in both sexes. It is very foolish and weak to rely upon medicine to maintain the action of the bowels. Diet, habit and exercise work much better.

Softening and Removing a Callus.
Please tell me something that will remove the ball of my foot. (Miss E. W. B.)

ANSWER—Paint the callus with a solution of acetic acid. It will soften and in half an ounce of flexible collodion every night, following a hot soaking of the foot. When the softening of the callus is complete, rub it with a little larger than the callus, one quarter inch thick at the center.

GREEN FANCY

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEN

The First Wayfarer and the Second Wayfarer Meet and Part on the Highway.

A solitary figure trudged along the narrow road that wound its serpentine way through the dismal, forbidding depths of the forest—a man who, though weary and footsore, lagged not in his swift, resolute advance. Night was coming on, and with it the no uncertain prospects of a storm.

He came to the "pike" and there was a signpost. A huge, crudely painted hand pointed to the left, and on what was intended to be the sleeve of a very stiff and unflattering arm these words were printed in scaly white: "Hart's Tavern. Food for Man and Beast. Also Gasoline. Established 1798. 1 Mile."

On the opposite side of the "pike," in the angle formed by a junction with the narrow mountain road, stood an humble signpost, lettered so indistinctly that it deserved the compassion of all observers because of its humbleness. Swerving in his hurried passage, the tall stranger drew near this shrinking friend to the uncertain traveler, and was suddenly aware of another presence in the roadway.

A woman appeared, as if from nowhere, almost at his side. He drew back to let her pass. She stopped before the little signpost, and together they made out the faint directions.

To the right and up the mountain road Frogg's Corner lay four miles and a half away; Pitcairn was six miles back over the road which the man had traveled. Two miles and a half down the turnpike was Spanish Falls, a railway station, and four miles above the crossroads where the man and woman stood peering through the darkness at the laconic signpost reposed the village of St. Elizabeth. Hart's Tavern was on the road to St. Elizabeth, and the man, with barely a glance at his fellow traveler, started briskly off in that direction.

He knew that these wild mountain storms moved swiftly; his change of reaching the tavern ahead of the deluge was exceedingly slim. His long, powerful legs had carried him twenty or thirty paces before he came to a sudden halt.

What of this lone woman who traversed the highway? His first glimpse of her had been extremely casual—indeed, he had paid no attention to her at all, so eager was he to read the directions and be on his way.

She was standing quite still in front of the signpost, peering up the road toward Frogg's Corner—confronted by a steep climb that led into black and sinister timberlands above the narrow strip of pasture bordering the pike.

The fierce wind plinned her skirts to her slender body as she leaned against the gale, gripping her hat tightly with one hand and straining under the weight of the bag in the other. The ends of a veil whipped furiously about her head, and, even in the gathering darkness, he could see a strand or two of hair keeping them company.

Retracing his steps, he called out to her above the gale:

"Can I be of any assistance to you?" She turned quickly. He saw that the veil was drawn tightly over her face.

"No, thank you," she replied. Her voice, despite a certain nervous note, was soft and clear—and gentle—the voice and speech of a well-bred person who was young and resolute.

"Pardon me, but have you much farther to go? The storm will soon be upon us, and—surely you will not consider me presumptuous—I don't like the idea of your being caught out in—"

"What is to be done about it?" she inquired, resignedly. "I must go on. I can't wait here, you know, to be washed back to the place I started from."

He smiled. She had wit as well as determination.

"If I can be of the least assistance to you, pray don't hesitate to command me. I am a sort of tramp, you might say, and I travel as well by night as I do by day—so don't feel that you are putting me to any inconvenience. Are you by any chance bound for Hart's Tavern? If so, I will be glad to lag behind and carry your bag."

"You are very good, but I am not bound for Hart's Tavern, wherever that may be. Thank you, just the same. You appear to be an uncommonly gentle tramp, and it isn't because I am afraid you might make off with my belongings." She added the last by way of apology.

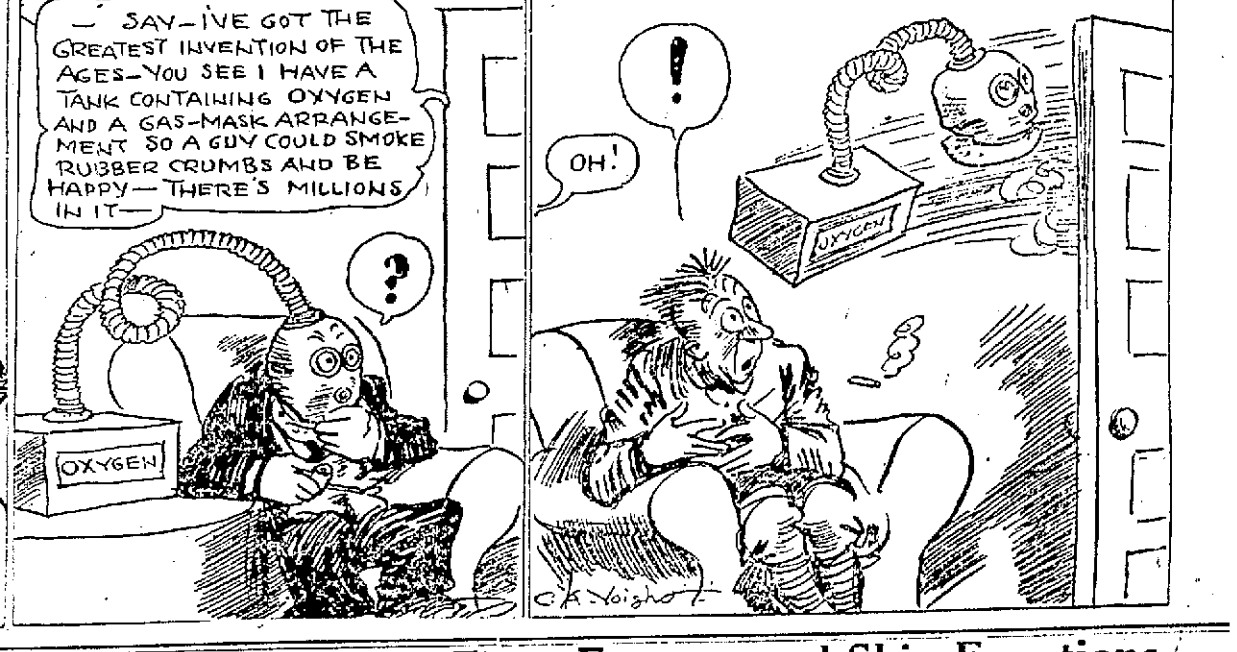

He smiled—and then frowned as he cast an uneasy look at the black clouds now rolling ominously up over the mountain ridge.

"By Jove, we're going to catch it good and hard," he exclaimed. "Better take my advice. These storms are terrible. I know, for I've encountered half a dozen of them in the past week. They fairly tear one to pieces. You are a stranger in these parts?"

"Yes, the railway station is a few miles below here. I have walked all the way. There was no one to meet me. You are a stranger also, so it is useless to inquire if you know whether this road leads to Green Fancy."

"Green Fancy? Sounds attractive. I'm sorry I can't enlighten you." He

PETEY DINK—ANOTHER DREAM OF PETEY'S GOES UP IN SMOKE.

WOLVES OF THE SEA

By RANDALL PARISH

Copyright by A. C. McClurg & Co.

I yet held Dorothy's hand tightly clasped in my own, and the depths of her uplifted eyes questioned me.

"We will go up, dear, and I will tell you the whole story," I said gently, "for now we are homeward bound."

I write these few closing lines a year later in the cabin of the Ocean Spray, a three master, full to the hatches with a cargo of tobacco, bound for London, and a market. Dorothy is on deck, eagerly watching for the first glimpse of the chalk cliffs of old England. I must join her presently, yet linger below to add these final sentences.

There is, after all, little which needs to be said. The voyage of the Santa Marie north proved uneventful, and, after that first night of storm, the weather held pleasant and the sea fairly smooth. I had some trouble with the men, but nothing serious, as Watkins and Haines held as I did, and the pledge of Dorothy's influence brought courage. I refused to open the chest, believing our safety, and chance of pardon, would depend largely on our handing this over in good faith to the authorities. Watkins and I guarded it night and day until the schooner rounded the cape and came into the Chesapeake. No attempt was made to find quarters below, the entire crew sleeping on deck. Dorothy comfortable on the flag locker.

It was scarcely sunrise, on the fifth day, when we dropped anchor against the current of the James, our sails furled and the red English colors flying from the peak. Two hours later the entire company were in the presence of the governor, where I told my story, gravely listened to, supplemented by the earnest plea of the young woman. I shall never forget that scene, or how breathlessly we awaited the decision of the great man, who so closely watched our faces. They were surely a strange, rough group as they stood thus, hats in hand, waiting to learn their fate, shaggy-haired, unshaven, largely seum of the sea, never before in such presence, shuffling uneasily before his glance, feeling to the full the peril of their position. Their eyes turned to me questioningly.

Opposite us, behind a long table, sat the governor, dignified, austere, his hair powdered and face smoothly shaven; while on either side of him were those of his council, many of their faces stern and unforgiving. But for their gracious reception of Dorothy and their careful attention to her words I should have lost heart. They questioned me shrewdly, although the governor spoke but seldom, and then in a kindly tone of sympathy and understanding. One by one the men were called forward, each in turn compelled to tell briefly the story of his life; and when all was done the eyes of the governor sought those of the council.

"You have all alike heard the tale, gentlemen," he said. "Nothing like it hath ever before been brought before this colony. Would you leave decision to me?"

There was a murmur of assent, as though they were thus gladly relieved of responsibility in so serious a matter. The governor smiled, his kindly eyes surveying us once more; then with extended hand he bade Dorothy be seated.

"The story is seemingly an honest one," he said slowly, "and these seamen have done a great service to the colony. They deserve reward rather than punishment. The fair lady who pleads for them is known to us all, and to even question her word is impossible. Unfortunately I have not the power of pardon in cases of piracy, nor authority to free bond slaves, without the approval of the home government; yet will exercise in this case whatsoever of power I possess. For gallant services rendered to the colony, and unselfish devotion to Mistress Dorothy Fairfax, I release Geoffrey Carlyle from servitude pending and pay to these seamen, on condition they remain within our jurisdiction until this judgment can be confirmed and full pardons issued. Is this judgment satisfactory, gentlemen?"

The members of the council bowed gravely, without speaking.

"The chest of treasure recovered from the sunken pirate ship," he went on soberly, "will remain unopened until final decision is made. As I understand, Master Carlyle, no one among you has yet seen its contents, or estimated its value?"

"No, your excellency. Beyond doubt it contains the gold stolen from Roger Fairfax; and possibly the result of other robberies at sea."

"The law of England is that a certain percentage of such recovered treasure belongs to the crown, the remainder its true ownership undetermined, to be fairly divided among those recovering it."

"Yet," spoke up Dorothy quickly, "it must surely be possible to waive all claim in such cases?"

"Certainly; as private property it can be disposed of in any way desired. Was that your thought?"

"A Fairfax always pays his debt," she said proudly, "and this is mine."

There was a moment's silence as though each one present hesitated to speak. She had risen, and yet stood, but with eyes lowered to the floor. Then they were lifted and met mine in all frank honesty.

"There is another debt I owe," she said clearly, "and would pay, your excellency."

She crossed to me, her hand upon my arm.

"To become the wife of Geoffrey Carlyle."

Dinner Stories

Senator Penrose, discussing the Cape May thoroughfares, once told of a conversation he had with a Cape May skipper. Amazed at the way they were skimming through the creeks by an inch or two deep, he said:

"I suppose, captain, that you think nothing of sailing across the meadows when there has been a heavy fall of dew?"

"Right you are," said the captain, "though occasionally we have to send the men ashore with a watering can."

The candidate was rather surprised when he faced the "audience" to find it consisted of one solitary person. Realizing, however, that an election may be won by one, so to speak, he addressed himself up, and delivered his address to a "packed house."

After an hour and a half of pledges and promises, he wound up with:

"And now, my dear sir, I will not enquire upon your valuable time any longer, but in the minutes."

"Oh, it's all right, gov'nor," interrupted the "audience." "Fire away. Don't mind me; I'm only your taxi driver."

"With me," said the tall man, "life is just one exposure after another."

"What is your business?"

"I'm a photographer."

"Well, life is just one exposure after another with me, too."

"Is that so? What line are you in?"

"I'm in the United States senate."

"Gentleman," remarked a third man, "with me also life is just one exposure after another."

"So? And what do you do?"

"I design party gowns."

HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Sgt. Harris A. Hallenbeck
The following letter from Sgt. Harris A. Hallenbeck, who was one of the first boys in Co. M, has been received by the Gazette from Mrs. H. E. Hallenbeck, 608 E. Fifth avenue, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Sergeant Hallenbeck was with Co. M, until Dec. 17, when he was compelled to go to a hospital. He is now at Camp Dodge and expects a turning soon when he will, if possible, visit Janesville. I am now going to tell you what my trouble is, how and when I got it and everything I know about it. As you already know after the armistice was signed our division was one of those picked to make the march to the Rhine. Well, the day before Thanksgiving we stopped in for a couple of days' rest and I had a cold like them I had every now and then at home, and on Thanksgiving day as I walked down the street from my billet to the company headquarters I had a bad coughing spell and I felt a pain in my side so I went in a house and looked and there was a big lump there and I knew at once that the hinking and coughing together had brought on a rupture. (which is nothing more than a strained stomach and a piece in there broke.) Well I didn't think much more of it that day and I looked when I went to bed that night and it was all gone so I paid no more notice of it until after we had marched three or four days more. (One day on the march I felt a pain in the side which both me very much all that afternoon so bad I could hardly finish the rest of the day's march, but a real soldier never fails out on a hike. So that night I went to the battalion doctor and he ordered my back and equipment put on the rest of the rest of the march. So I got along all right until the day we crossed the river and then I was done so I had to get an order from the doctor to ride.

So I rode the rest of the march. I didn't leave then to go to the hospital because I thought that I would be alright then that the hinking was over, but when buses of clothing started coming in I couldn't handle them so I went to the hospital and got repaired. There is nothing to the operation. I never fails. You can ask any doctor and he will tell you it is a simple operation, no worse than the one Edna had on her throat that time.

I am not sure when I am going to be transferred from here but the Red Cross man is going to leave but the office and let you know.

I say the most wonderful parade this afternoon that I ever saw in my life. I will tell you more about it when I write tomorrow. I can't take much more time to write tonight as I am invited to a theater party by some New Yorkers.

Tomorrow night (Wednesday) I am going to the musical services at church for the first time in a long time.

Don't worry, I am having the time of my life.

Hoping this finds you all as well and happy as I leave me, I will close for this time.

With love to all,
HARRIS.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Do Substitute Teaching in Clinton.
Bessie Billings, Ruth Sayre and Helen Simon, members of the senior class, have all done substitute work in the grammar room of the Clinton public school during the past couple of weeks. The regular teacher has been obliged to be out on account of an attack of flu.

Visitors at School.
Marie Vickerman, Milton, and Lydia Meloy, Oregon, both members of the class of 1916, were visitors to the school, Thursday. Loretta Vickerman and Caroline Shuman, Milton Junction, visited the classes upstairs and in the model school, Friday.

April Bulletin Issued.
Twenty-one hundred copies of the April number of the Rock County Educational bulletin are being mailed out this week. About 1,100 copies are sent this month to the high school in the various high schools of the county. Three hundred and fifty copies were distributed to Janesville young women, and 450 were sent to the training school.

Principal Louth Gives Talk.
Principal F. J. Louth gave talks recently in behalf of both the county good roads bond issue and also the city school bond issue. "It is a source of much gratification to the training school faculty and students that these important questions," he said, "The people of the county and of the city have expressed their emphatic choice in unmistakable terms."

Substitute Teaching in Clinton.
Miss Bertha Lapp, a member of the senior class, spent the past week in teaching for Miss Josephine Sande in district No. 6, town of Powers. Miss Sande has been elected to the position of Special Instruction in Rural Hygiene and Sanitation.

Wednesday, April 16. Miss Aimee Zillmer, Milwaukee, will spend the day at the training school giving the young teachers some especially good material on sanitation, hygiene, plays and games, and kindred topics. Miss Zillmer represents the state April Teachers' association. Her subject-matter will be particularly interesting and valuable. Any women of the city who have any interest in such subjects are cordially invited to come to these sessions at the training school. This is the fifth year that the training school has put on such a program.

Students Visit Court House and Jail.
This week a trip of the civics class made a member of the court house and jail for the purpose of doing some concrete, objective work in this subject. The young women were much interested in what they saw at both institutions. This coming week the program calls for a visit to the city hall during the time that Judge Mayfield is holding court.

Reports on Professional Books.
The members of the senior class are now engaged in reporting frequently upon books of especial value for the civics teacher. Many interesting reports have been given recently. Several of the students have read pedagogical stories like "The Evolution of Dodd," "The Brown Mouse," "The Rooster Schoolmaster," etc. Such books are of distinct value in determining the spirit and the attitude of the young teacher.

Close up Third Quarter.
The third quarter will end Friday, April 18, and the final examinations will occur April 16, 17, and 18. During the week beginning April 15, members of the senior class will spend their time doing observation and practice work in some 20 different country schools of the county. There is to be no vacation this year. Regular work will be resumed Monday, April 22.

Miss Moore Gives Entertaining Readings in Literary Society.
Friday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Philomathean Literary society, Miss Elva Moore, daughter of Charles E. Moore, president of the Training school board, gave several interesting readings which were much enjoyed and appreciated. Miss Moore gave a practical demonstration of her genuine ability in the field of interpretative and expressive rendition.

Students Attend the County Teachers' Meeting.
Many of the training school students made up the regular day of school work. School will be in session one other Saturday this year, viz., April 12. It was planned to run the school April 5, but a broken furnace made this impossible. The Saturday session extends from 8:15 to 11:45 a. m. only.

Senior Debate.
Six members of the senior class held a spirited debate yesterday afternoon. The names of the young women who took part are: Bessie Billings, Marie Hansen, Myrtle Kleinfeldt, Delilah Pender, Florence Kehoe, and Kathryn Masten.

Miss Bertha Lapp is the first member of the senior class to secure a palmer writing certificate this year. Eight others are expected to pass the required examination within a couple of weeks.

Special Map Work in Geography.
Miss Jacobson's special class in methods of teaching geography is doing some particularly good work on maps of Wisconsin and Rock county. Four and six maps and those made with colored crayons are taking up a great deal of the students' time and attention. The work done in this class has special reference to the needs of the boys and girls in country schools. Rock county geography and civics are being stressed. The railroad map of Wisconsin is being carefully studied.

Cult at School.
Miss Eleanor Double, the domestic teacher in the Milton high school, and a young friend from Lake Forest, Miss Evelyn Neil, were callers at the training school, Friday. Five young women from Milton high school are members of the class of 1919 and will graduate June 14. They are: Kirsten Sunby, Clara Sunby, Thekla Davis, Ruth Sayre and Allene Mangione.

Class in Seat Work.
Miss Jacobson is conducting a class at present which has for its purpose the preparation of the young teachers to plan and supervise the seat work of the pupils in the first four grades, particularly. Specific directions are given for the successful management of the study periods of the smaller children in a country school.

Will Give Lantern Talk. Principal Frank Louth will give a stereoscopic lecture in the school building in district No. 1, town of Spring Valley, the coming week. The subject is Yellowstone Park. One hundred slides will be shown. The teacher is Hannah Kavelgren, Orfordville, a member of the class of 1918.

Inspects Country Schools. The principal of the Training school has recently visited the school in district No. 3, town of Union. The teacher is Miss Anna McGuire, Footville, a member of the class of 1918. Miss McGuire began teaching in January. On this trip of inspection she also visited the high school and the State Inspectors' School.

State Inspectors' School. A. A. Thompson, Madison, one of the state rural school inspectors, recently spent a good share of his day visiting the school and inspecting the work of various classes, including the practice classes of the Model Training department.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Well, what do you think happened today, before I had time to sit down and write this story? Why, the train from Turnip Hill came puffing into Bunnyville and out jumped Billy Bunny and Uncle Lucky, so I guess they got up in time this morning, which I was afraid they might not do in the last story before this, you remember.

"And there at the station was the old Red Rooster with the Luckymobile, all ready to take the two little rabbits back to Uncle Lucky's little white on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrot street."

"So in they hopped and away went the Luckymobile, for the old Red Rooster was a mighty good chauffeur, let me tell you."

"Everything all right at home?" asked Uncle Lucky, after they had gone for maybe a mile or three.

"The little sparrow has five little sparrows in her nest on the front porch," said the old Red Rooster.

"Any more news?" asked the old gentleman rabbit. And then the old Red Rooster scratched his head.

"Oh, yes," he answered, "the little black cricket has gone to visit her cousin, Mrs. Treetop."

"And after that nobody said a word till they drove into the gate, and then the old gentleman rabbit said:

"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. And if you don't think so just start out and roam."

GARDEN TALKS NO. 8
Lawns and their care.

Old lawns become thin in places. Use the care vigorously on these. It will look bad for a time, but the grass will soon spring up again and be the better for it. Then sow some of our fine LAWN GRASS SEED. Take this in or roll it, or flatten it with a spade. For moss or chickweed on lawns, rake or harrow out the moss or weed and treat as above. The best FERTILIZER to use on the lawn is our own and truest above. The best FERTILIZER to use on the lawn is our own and truest above. You can never forget the roses that bloom Out there in your garden so close to your room. And you'll listen and wait for the noises of home. So take it from me, don't start out to roam."

"That's what I think," said the Old Red Rooster as he dusted off the seat cushions with his feather duster. And after that the two little rabbits hopped into the house, and Uncle Lucky put on his old carpet slippers and sat down in the Morris Chair. "Wind up the graphophone," he said to Billy Bunny. So the little rabbit picked out a new record and then the music commenced:

"The lollypops are blooming On their little slender stalks, And the ice cream cones are budding Along the garden walks. And the apples in the orchard Are dropping in the pie, And the ice cream in the freezer Will be ready by and by."

And then the Old Grandfather Clock in the hall struck nine and the little rabbits went to bed. And while they were undressing a little fairy from Dream Land stood outside of the window with a dream for each of them. Wasn't that nice? And as soon as Uncle Lucky had his nightgamas, the little fairy flew in and put a dream under the little rabbit's pillow and another dream under Uncle Lucky's bolster, and then she went down stairs and gave Miss Mousie a piece of Moonbeam cheese, which is the most delicious thing, I'm told, that the fairies eat. And in the next story you will hear what Uncle Lucky dreamed—that is, if the old gentleman rabbit can remember it in the morning.

General Superintendent

are now at the head of the Company's affairs. These men, all residents of Chicago, and all actively engaged in this business, and no other, are the Board of Directors.

They are responsible to the 4623 stockholders, and to the public, for the policies governing the Company's activities.

Each Director is a highly trained specialist, who, in addition to being master of his own particular specialty, has a profound knowledge of the oil business generally.

This complete understanding of every phase of the business, from the production of crude oil to the intricate problem of distribution, is the reason for the superlative service given by the Standard Oil Company.

A Thousand Yous

When you pick up your Gazette and glance over the advertising you quite unconsciously multiply yourself a thousand times.

In half or three-quarters of an hour you can, metaphorically speaking, visit every progressive store in town. You virtually poke your head into every department of every department store. You run into the florist's, the confectioner's, the oculist's, the leading grocer's, banks, theatres, all the various places that supply the things that make this the twentieth century and life worth the living. Here is a greater choice in clothing, food, furniture, books, pictures, musical instruments, travel, entertainment, opportunities for investment, the service of public utility corporations than any monarch of old could command.

It would easily take a thousand yous, traveling hard all day, to find out for yourself what the advertisements tell you in a few minutes morning or evening.

They deserve your attention. They deserve your confidence. Without them, without the progressive spirit of the merchants and manufacturers who back them, the great abundance of things you now enjoy would be a memory—or something still to be realized. Without advertising the prices you would have to pay for many of the necessities you now buy for a few pennies would make a dollar look like a snow ball on the kitchen range.

Read the advertisements. Read them for your own information and advantage. Read them to encourage the advertisers who are making these better things possible for you.

Definition of Planning.

City planning has been well defined as the intelligent control and guidance of the physical conformation, growth and alteration of cities, towns, and villages, and the forces which act on them, in the interest of the community. Or, more briefly, the organization of the physical city, town or district to fit it to its complex use.

It includes the planning of cities, towns, suburbs, villages, or even rural districts. The material included in this article is treated primarily with relation to the physical plan.

In general it follows the definition as given above, and the order of the classification published by the American Society of City Planners is in admirable, comprehensive, analysis of the subject. This classification itself is an impressive record of the magnitude of the field of city planning.

The approach to city planning is now, and probably always will be,
